INCIDENT OF THE MONTH

Cortland Officers responded to the 240 block of McMillan Ct. for a reported missing adult. The man's mother reported that her son, who is schizophrenic, had not been taking his medication. This causes her son to have hallucinations and to hear voices that are not there. He had been complaining of voices in his head telling him to leave home. His mother explained that she had recently moved to Cortland from Westchester, IL and her son came to live with her on a temporary basis. She feels he may have gone back to Westchester. Officers checked the area to include both Casey's and Mobil to no avail. His phone was pinged, which showed the phone was in the vicinity of Glendale Heights. The reporting officer entered the man into LEADS for a statewide bulletin as missing/endangered. The following day, we were informed that the man had just been located at a Chicago bus station and identified himself as Peter Parker. He was taken to a hospital for treatment and ultimately returned home.
