INCIDENT OF THE MONTH:

Cortland officers responded to 152 calls for service in the month of May. Of those calls, officers took 50 written reports. We had a rash of neighborhood disputes during the month, eleven of which were documented. Disputes ranged in reasons from property issues to neighbors videotaping each other to irresponsible pet ownership. The majority of these calls were not law enforcement related but keep the peace issues. Officers responded accordingly, listened to complaints and in most cases were able to elicit a compromise between the parties. By contrast, we had one reported neighborhood dispute in April and five to date in June.
